CLA is a modified fatty acid, small quantities of which are naturally found in our foods. Other benefits include the improvement of vitality and the increase of energy resources within the body. Through its thermogenic properties, CLA enables the reduction of fat and increases energy production from fatty acids.

The energy released from them contributes to improving general physical efficiency, which is sometimes hindered due to low calorie diets.

CLA+Green Tea also shows strong anti-oxidizing properties – it can bind and neutralize free radicals.

CLA supplementation also makes the skin more flexible and better-looking.
